Summer Holiday

Marika....

I didn't have the courage to tell her how I feel.

Coffee Break

I have had a Peace Lily for more than 15 years. Every year white flowers bloom, but Cara often pulls off the leaves and eats them. But despite this treatment, it's still healthy. For reference purposes, I bought some perserved flowers, a very pretty arrangement with roses and Clematis. As soon as I put them out--in maybe three seconds--Mel knocked them to the floor and killed them (an instant death for what was supposed to have had a 2-year life span). Coexistence between cats and plants is a difficult thing.

That reminds me-- I'm hungry
I'll come back well fed That will be my souvenir!
During the summer holiday most students go back to their homes...
Bye for now
See ya
Yeah yeah
...even in this lively dorm that houses 80
Now there are only 8 people
It's quiet
No one's around

Coffee Break

Let's have some tea

Kimono and I

My home was actually a kimono store. It was an old store that was open for 80 years...ever since the time of my granfather. But it closed about 10 years ago and became an Italian restaurant. Even though I grew up in a kimono store, I can't put one on myself & I'm also really bad at drawing them. Whenever they come up I reallly struggle, but I like kimonos so I use them a lot. ♡

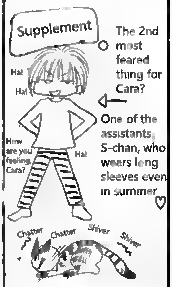
Cara and Mel's scary experience at the vet's
In the case of Cara

Freeze

His body snaps stiff. He then shakes violently with fear, and then he finally wets himself. Poor boy

In the case of Mel

Fight. Bite! Go into a rage! Terrorize! She goes into hiding, but comes back when I show her a chicken breast fillet.



Whenever Cara catches sight of her, he puts his head to the floor and goes prostrate. He then does a pose where he shows his stomach and surrenders. Why??

But why a...
One-piece !? !?
